DEBATE WITH PULLMAN

DEBATE ON CONTROL OF NATURAL RESOURCES TO BE ON APRIL 12.

CONTEST TO BE CLOSE

Experienced Debaters on Both Sides Promise a Very Tight Run for the Decision.

In the debate with the Agricultural College of Washington, which will occur in the Assembly hall of the University on the evening of April 12 H. A. Sewell and Mr. Chambers, in behalf of Pullman, will defend the principle of state rights in regard to the control of natural resources, while Mr. Bullerdick and Mr. Warren of Montana will advocate the superiority of national control. The question which was submitted to the University by Pullman for this year's debate is: "Resolved. That the national government should control the natural resources rather than the state; natural resources to include forests, waters, soils and minerals."

This question is one of extreme importance at the present time and has caused considerable discussion among the prominent political leaders of the nation, who hold different opinions on the subject. The problem of the conservation of natural resources under state or national control was very forcibly brought into public attention immediately after the Congress of Governors, convened at Washington, D. C. in response to an invitation of President Roosevelt in 1908. No marked divergence in the views of the governors was perceived at this time, nor did any violent advocate of state rights appear, although many of the governors took this opportunity to air their opinions quite freely. The greatest developments on the question of conservation of the country's resources was occasioned last year at the National Congress of Conservationists held at Minneapolis. The feeling on the question became rather intense and several of the governors rebelled, and no doubt justly, against the way in which the Congress was being conducted. Magazines, periodicals, newspapers and prominent men in their public utterances took up the agitation of state and federal control of natural resources and so the contest has continued. This problem is one of the biggest now before the American people, its final solution is of vital concern to every person in the United States and especially to the citizens of the western states.

In the debate on April 12 at the University the most advanced and conclusive arguments on this subject, as it now stands, will be presented by the opposing sides.

The debate will no doubt be hotly contested; both sides are adequately prepared and all the speakers have had considerable experience in the art of debate. Mr. Sewell and Mr. Chambers have represented Pullman in a number of intercollegiate debates and by their forcible delivery and skill in argument have acquired an enviable reputation.

But Montana's men are to a no less degree eloquent speakers and skillful debaters. Mr. Bullerdick and Mr. Warren are both experienced debaters. In this work they stand first at the University. They have represented the school with distinction in many con-

TAYLOR NAMES STAFF

Editor-in-Chief of 1913 Sentinel Appoints His Staff—Excellent Prospects for a Good Book Next Year.

The enterprise and enthusiasm of the Sophomore class is illustrated by the energetic way in which the newly elected editor-in-chief of the 1913 Sentinel has already taken up the work in hand. He has expressed his ideas and ideals to several and the entire class has awakened to the possibilities which lie before them in producing an annual which will surpass all previous like publications in Montana. The editor feels his great responsibility in the matter. He declares that it is for him to engineer the production of a book which by its excellence will keep pace with the general advancement of the institution. On every side improvement of buildings, advancement of standards, development of departments show us the great progress made in general by this college as a state institution. To keep up with the advancement every organization every individual must raise its standard. For this reason, if for no other, Mr. Taylor vows his intention of making the 1913 Sentinel stand for the highest and best in the power of the class of 1913.

The example set before him of the 1912 Sentinel editor and staff goads him on, while it aids him in countless ways. The smoothly moving machine which is accomplishing so much this year furnishes suggestions and an incentive to succeed at least as well, and a natural hope of succeeding even better.

As a representative and efficient body Mr. Taylor has appointed the following as his editorial staff: Associate editor—Mildred Ingalls. Literary editor—Carl Cameron. Local editor—Paul Gervais. Athletic editor—K. D. McDonald. Art editor—Gladys Huffman. Organization editor—Gladine Lewis. Calendar committee chairman—Louise Smith.

COTTER IS EXONERATED

JUDGE CHEADLE INTIMATES YOUNG PROSECUTOR WAS VICTIM OF PREJUDICE

Townsend, March 22.—(Special).—For the past week considerable activity has been noticeable in and about the office of the county attorney of Broadwater county, culminating in the county commissioners instructing their chairman, W. P. George, to bring action against Charles P. Cotter, county attorney, to compel him to retire from the office to which he had been elected and for which he had duly qualified. The grounds for the action were in the words of the complaint, "that the said Charles P. Cotter had wilfully and knowingly refused to defend a civil action in behalf of the county."

The action against Mr. Cotter came to trial today. Judge Cheadle of Lewistown, who was called to try the case, decided in favor of Mr. Cotter, holding that the accused official had, previous to the time he had refused to defend the civil action, been connected in a legal way with W. B. Dolenty, one of the parties to the suit. The court ruled that therefore Mr. Cotter had been disqualified from acting in the

STUDENTS FAVOR NEW FEE

NEW PLAN FOR SECURING FUNDS FOR A. S. U. M. HEARTILY APPROVED.

ANNUAL SUM ASKED

Gives Students Special Privileges for the Many College Activities.

The new idea of having a compulsory fee of five dollars upon the entrance of all students is meeting with much approval throughout the college.

The advantage of this fee is the saving of money by the individual student, larger attendances to all University events and more unity in action.

When this fee is paid at the office, at the beginning of the school year, it entitles the student to a ticket to the Lecture Course, a year's subscription to the Kaimin, membership in the A. S. U. M. and all debates and oratorical contests are free to the holders of the tickets to all athletic events and dances. Once the regular fee is paid the student, if injured or sick, receives medical treatment at one-half the regular price.

It is expected that the faculty will all buy tickets, as it would be nearly as advantageous to them as the students. Interviews with the faculty and students show the following results:

President Duniway.

President Duniway said that his idea was that the plan was, in general, a very good one. The only objection that the president has is the way the proposition might operate in individual cases.

Engineers Say Yes.

Slim MacLay thundered forth that it was "a pretty darn good scheme." It would seem that from this that Slim approves the plan.

President D. C. Warren of Press Club.

"Of course this fee will have to be collected at the office in order to assure success, but I believe it will be a fine plan if worked right."

H. T. Forbis of A. S. U. M. Committee.

"I think it is a good plan, on the surface, but we will have to have more definite plans in order to make it feasible."

Ryan, President of Seniors.

President Ryan of the Senior class was enthusiastic, though his sentiments were expressed briefly. "I think it will be a good thing," says Ryan.

Speer Approves.

"Fine thing," exclaimed J. B. Speer. "Such a proposition would make it easier to operate business in A. S. U. M."

Massey McCullough, Student Manager of A. S. U. M.

"You can better believe that I am with this movement to the best of my ability. It will lighten the work of next year's student manager about 50 per cent and cut out the dunning of people for dues, which is very disagreeable. Yes, indeed, I am with it and hope it passes."

President Armitage of Chemistry Club.

When seen by a Kaimin reporter concerning the idea, he said, "Good dope; it is just the thing the University needs; it would promote more

STUDENTS FIND GOLD

While Out on an Exploring Trip, Students Make Startling Discovery.

Great excitement abounds in and around the University these days and all on account of an innocent little rippling brook down the side of Mt. Sentinel.

The sun has been very active for the last few days and consequently a small brooklet started on its course down the mountain, growing larger each day, until a gorge of considerable depth had been made.

It carried considerable debris down the mountainside and deposited some of its load on the University grounds. Professor Rowe came along with the advanced geology class on an exploring trip and stumbled on a large piece of float, picked it up and, turning it over and over in his hand, he emitted a soft, long drawn out whistle, indicating much surprise.

The class gathered together about the innocent looking rock and on a thorough examination it was found to contain large flakes of free gold scattered in and out in great quantity.

Excitement prevailed. Professor Rowe, Forbis and Richards started for the laboratory to make an assay, while Spencer, Ryan, McCullough, Winstanley, Bishop, MacLay and Little started up the mountain in an effort to locate the outcrop.

After a half hour's search Spencer sang out that "he had something that looked good." The rest of the crowd hurried to the spot and found the outcrop of a vein apparently six feet in width, striking northeast and dipping 60 degrees to the east. A discovery shaft was started and notice of location posted.

The question to whom does the vein belong is now the main theme in and about the Varsity. It is situated about two hundred feet below the 1910 cement block M, but is right on line with the fence, which divides the University. (Continued on Page 5.)

JAPANESE TEA TUESDAY

TEA HELD IN ART ROOM TO RAISE MONEY TO BUY SACAJAWEA.

The art department of the University served tea Tuesday afternoon from 2:30 on for the purpose of securing funds for the purchase of Paxson's famous picture, "Sac-a-ja-wea." Mr. Paxson loaned the picture to the University for the past year and the painting has been hanging in the library. For the past four months the University students have been making half-hearted attempts to raise enough money to purchase it. That is the reason for the tea.

"Sac-a-ja-wea" is an idealized portrait of the young Indian girl who left her people to guard Lewis and Clark on their perilous way into the unexplored northwest. She is standing looking over the great stretch of country toward the Pacific and she is portrayed in a manner possible only to a man who knows the Indian as does Paxson.

Sac-a-ja-wea is one of the most romantic figures in Montana's history. When the Lewis and Clark expedition reached Three Forks, Montana, where

ROWE'S BOOK POPULAR

RECENT BOOK PUBLISHED BY GENIAL GEOLOGIST GREAT SUCCESS.

RECEIVES HIGH PRAISE

Will Be a Great Aid to Prospectors and Miners as Well as Students.

That Dr. Rowe's recent publication, "Practical Mineralogy Simplified," is rapidly gaining wide popularity among miners and geologists is attested by the appearance of its many reviews in the most prominent magazines of the country that are devoted to mining and scientific interests. These reviews and criticisms are all very favorable and speak highly of the unqualified merits of the book for the use of mining students, miners and prospectors. The publishers, John Wiley & Sons, have secured advertising space for the book in many of the current scientific magazines and periodicals. Chief among those magazines in whose columns it is represented are Science, The Mining World, The Mining and Scientific Press and several others. This book is attracting such widespread attention that Professor Kroust, a member of the faculty of the University of Michigan, and an authority of recognized standing on the various subjects of geology, has requested Professor Rowe that a copy be sent him in order that he might make a review of the book for certain German magazines. "Practical Mineralogy Simplified" is a book of high scientific excellence.

Besides his publications in book form on geologic subjects, Professor Rowe, when his time permits their preparation, contributes many papers of scientific interest to important mining journals. He is at present engaged upon a series of papers bearing the title "The Occurrence and Theories of Ore Deposits" for the Mining World, one of the best and most authoritative mining magazines published. The matter treated partakes of a practical character and will no doubt be of great value to those who seek a firm foundation for their knowledge of occurrence of ore deposits and of the various theories that pertain to them. The copyright to these articles is reserved by Mr. Rowe and it is his present intention to subsequently publish them under separate cover.

In addition to his own individual work of publishing bulletins, reports, papers and books, Professor Rowe has supplied information for other scientists in the writing of their books. A book was published in 1910 under the title of a "History of the Clay Industry in the United States," by Heinrich Ries in collaboration with another geologist. In the treatment of the clay industry of the country each state is taken up separately. Montana is represented in its pages and the authors were furnished with the data, statistics and written information for the substance of the article by Professor Rowe. In September of last year a new book appeared on the market, designed for use in colleges and universities as a text book on economic geology. The book, one of the best, besides being the most recent, on this subject, is by Professor Ries and in the preface acknowledgement is made to Professor Rowe of the University of Montana

ACTION NEEDED.

The new plan that was suggested last week in regard to the compulsory fee of five dollars a semester to every student is receiving a great deal of encouragement and immediate steps will be taken in the matter. The plan, if carried out as suggested, would be a good thing for the individual as well as for the student body as a whole, and it is to be hoped that some definite arrangement can be made at once so that it may be possible for this plan to go into effect this fall.

By this scheme it will not only be possible for the student to attend more events at a much reduced cost but will make it much easier for the A. S. U. M. to run, as they will have a certain sum of money and can figure on all expenses with much more accuracy than heretofore.

The item that will appeal to the athletes of the college in particular is the clause that states all sickness and injury shall be treated at half price, the A. S. U. M. to pay the other half. In former times the football man who was injured was compelled to pay all doctor and hospital bills, except in rare instances, where the student body would come to his aid. By this new system this would be eliminated and the injured man's expenses would be the minimum. The matter will probably be brought up in the next meeting of the executive committee and some definite stand will be taken and the subject will more than likely be voted at the regular election of the A. S. U. M.

BASEBALL.

Now that spring has opened up and the baseball bug is in the air why would it not be a good stunt to have an U. of M.-Inter-Frat league. There is a lot of material in each of the frats among the independents and this could not be better developed than by having some active competition in the sport.

Baseball is too good a game to be allowed to die, or, rather, lie dormant in the institution, and as we can have no inter-collegiate games, owing to the ineligibility of all the best players that are not on the track team, we ought to have some means of affording amusement and exercise to the baseball fans.

The idea is to have a team from each Frat and one from the independents. A good schedule could be arranged and played off on Saturday mornings. Several of the men from each frat and many outside of frats have been approached on the subject and all are enthusiastic over the idea. The thing to do now is for each frat and the independents to elect a manager and hold a meeting some time in the near future so as to fix up the schedule and get an early start, so that it will all be over by track meet time.

If this meets with the approval of all concerned, as a means of bringing the matter to a head, the athletic editor of the Kaimin will be glad to call a meeting of the managers of the various "bunches" at such a time and place as will be agreeable to all, if the plan is deemed feasible. A board of directors could be elected to have full charge of all business pertaining to the affairs of the league, and as an incentive a purse could be made up with which to buy a cup or pennant to be presented to the winners of the season. Or, better yet, perhaps, let all the losers banquet the winners.

If any action is to be taken in this matter it should be taken quickly so as to play as many games as possible before track meet.

A GOOD BUNCH.

Tomorrow will see all the members of the short course forestry class leave the University of Montana.

It is with the greatest regret that we witness the departure of these hearty men of the forests from our midst, for they have been closely allied to the student body since the day of their enrollment and strong ties of friendship have been established. They have always entered heartily into the student activities and have held up their portion of the program with the best spirit. We are sorry to see them go, but we anticipate with pleasure the fact that they will be with us again next year.

If the present weather conditions keep up it will be a hard matter for us to know whether to sing the "Good Old Summertime," or to stay indoors and recite "Snow, Snow, Beautiful Snow."

Yes, the big day will be the eleventh of April. Every one will be here to hear Colonel Roosevelt speak and it will be a gala day. Write and have your friends come and visit you and help swell the crowd.

Remember, your A. S. U. M. dues. They should be paid at once and then your conscience will be clear; and, besides, the A. S. U. M. needs it.

NOTICE.

There will be a meeting of the Senior class this afternoon in Faculty room at 4:10. All committees to report.

At the University of Utah the question, "Resolved, That Theodore Roosevelt should be the next president of the United States," was debated recently.

SOCIAL EVENTS OF WEEK

Sigma Tau Gamma.

A reception was held Monday afternoon from four to six by the Sigma Tau Gamma sorority at the home of Mrs. Tylar Thompson to meet Miss Agnes Burton of Lincoln and Miss Ethel Tukey of Omaha, representatives of Delta Gamma sorority. Rooms decorated profusely with white peonies and delightful music during the afternoon added to the charm of the affair. Mrs. Lombard accompanied Mrs. Petit, who pleased those present with several beautiful solos. Later, Miss Ethel Hughes sang delightfully.

There were in the receiving line, the guests of honor, Miss Burton and Miss Tukey, the patronesses of Sigma Tau Gamma, Mrs. W. F. Book, Mrs. Tylar Thompson and Mrs. J. M. Evans, Miss Edith Steele, Miss Laura Johnson and Miss Mayme Burke.

Tea and wafers were served by Misses Bess Wilde, Adelaide Stanley, Madge Beatty, Jean Sloan and Gazella Schlossberg.

After the reception Mrs. J. M. Evans entertained Miss Burton and Miss Tukey at dinner.

Lieutenant Philoon Entertains.

Last Friday evening Lieutenant Philoon of Fort Missoula entertained a few friends at an elaborate dinner. The dining room of his cosy quarters was decorated for the occasion and a jolly time was indulged by those present.

The guests were: Lieutenants Davis and Harding, Midshipman H. W. Berry, Massey McCullough, Sidney Penwald and the host, W. C. Philoon.

A. S. U. M. Dance.

The A. S. U. M. dance tomorrow night will be one of the livening events of the Lenten season and a large crowd is expected.

The committee in charge have worked overtime to make this dance a success and all the students should be there.

Foresters' Smoke.

Friday evening the short course foresters entertained the Engineers' club at a smoker held in the Masonic lodge rooms. Cards in their various forms were indulged in until a late hour, when all adjourned to the dining room, where supper was served by the ladies of the Eastern Star. President Stockton of the forestry class presided as toastmaster, calling for toasts from some of the prominent men present. The evening afforded a splendid opportunity to clinch acquaintances and broke up with a feeling of good fellowship reigning supreme.

Kappa House Party.

For twenty-four hours, beginning about 7:00 Friday evening, the Kappa Kappa Gamma suite in Craig Hall was the scene of a very lively house party. The guests were the Kappas residing in town, and, including the hostesses, there were twenty-two in the party. Friday evening they went to the ten-cent show and had a spread in the suite afterward. A picnic had been planned for Saturday but on account of the sudden snowstorm they went for a walk up the canyon instead and had a "regular picnic" in the suite that afternoon.

Auto Ride.

Sunday afternoon Sigma Tau Gamma had the Misses Burton and Tukey as their guests for an automobile ride. The visitors were first taken to the different points of interest about the city, then to Bonner, and finally to the fort. There were three autos of merry sightseers. Besides the guests of honor there were present: Mrs. W. F. Book, Mrs. Tylar Thompson, Mrs. J. M. Evans, Miss Stoddard and the Misses Edith Steele, Helen Wear, Cor-

Your tailor when you choose a suit shows you a handsomely lithographed group of men, attired superbly in the latest fashion.

He starts in to build you a suit after one of the subjects in that flat picture of his.

Stein-Bloch tailoring is different.

From London, New York, Palm Beach, Atlantic City, Stein-Bloch style experts personally glean the real style changes of the style dictators.

These are embodied in Stein-Bloch models—not lithographed—but worked into real, model garments which the Stein-Bloch art tailors follow. Only a tailor with the world for his market could afford such care in making, or sell at such attractive prices.

These are reasons why Stein-Bloch clothes fit and hold their shape.

ROOSEVELT DAY

Will Speak to Students in Assembly Hall on the Morning of April 11.

At a recent meeting of the chamber of commerce the feasibility of erecting a balcony at the corner of the Montana building, so that Mr. Roosevelt could be heard to better advantage, was discussed. The plan was referred to Senator Dixon, who is in charge of the program on April 11, and in a letter received Sunday, he mentions that the suggestion about building a platform on the corner of Higgins avenue and Cedar street, so that Mr. Roosevelt can address the people on the four sides of the space, is a good one and will allow many more to hear him than if he talked from the iron balcony facing on Higgins avenue.

The Northern Pacific will hold the Bitter Root train until 6 p. m. on Roosevelt day and special coaches will be supplied for the extra heavy traffic that is anticipated. Hamilton will have a huge crowd down and at the Stevensville Chamber of Commerce banquet last Saturday a letter from the Missoula Chamber of Commerce was read inviting that organization to use its influence in making the Tuesday in April that Mr. Roosevelt pays his visit to Missoula practically a holiday. Many signified their willingness to be on hand, especially when they found that suitable arrangements had been completed for the return trip. Lolo, Carlton, Florence, Victor, Darby, Corvallis—all the towns in the Bitter Root will have big delegations down, according to reports secured by the arrangement committee from the chamber of commerce.

Major Morgan sends down word that a large delegation of Flathead Indians in full regalia will be on hand; also at least 50 cowboys. This, in addition to the regiment from the Fourteenth infantry, the band, the large reception committee in autos and the citizens in general, will give Teddy as enthusiastic a welcome as he has had anywhere on his recent trip.—Missoulian.

MISS RHODES RETURNS.

Miss Bessie Rhoades has returned from California. In the early part of the new year Miss Rhoades left with her family to make her home in Los Angeles, but her father's business has recalled them to Montana. In California Miss Rhoades visited the University of Southern California. She met Miss Gertrude Gilligan of the class of '14 in Los Angeles. Miss Gilligan is attending the Los Angeles Polytechnical school and declares that she is enjoying her California life greatly. Miss Rhoades had a delightful time in Rhoades. She liked the climate, the people, everything, in fact, but somehow or other it lacked for her the charm of Missoula. It is a happy stroke of luck indeed that brings her again to Missoula and the University. She has enrolled in the Freshman class of which she was a member before she left.

NEW DESKS.

There is much joy in the office these days as the Misses Mary Hansen and Hazel Murphy of the office force have received new desks of the latest model. The proud owners never miss an opportunity to take in their friends to view their new possessions, and every one who has had the pleasure of seeing have pronounced the articles good.

When Mr. George Gabbert Bowman becomes president of Iowa University he will be the youngest college head in the United States. Mr. Bowman is 33 years old.

TRIP IS POSTPONED

Glee Club Tour Postponed Until the Last of April on Account of Sickness.

The Glee club tour, which was to be taken the first of April, has been postponed until about the last of April on account of sickness among the members of the organization.

A new plan has been in effect for the last three weeks of having four quartets, and having a manager of each appointed. The managers appointed were John Taylor, Walter Marshall, James Haines and H. F. Sewell and arrangements are now made so that each aggregation practices alone four times a week, while the entire club practices twice a week.

Manager Massey McCullough has made plans for several side trips of the club, which it intends to take in the near future. Several brand new ideas in the way of glee club stunts have been worked up and the public will certainly be given a treat on the first official appearance of the organization.

BASEBALL VS. TRACK.

Now that spring activities have opened up in full blast it seems proper that a few things should be said concerning the use of the field and the diamond.

We all recognize baseball as a good sport and one that should have as much prominence in the athletics of the year as any of the other sports carried on, but we do not see that, in view of the fact, that the University will not be represented in any games held under the Intercollegiate rules of Montana why baseball should be given more prominent place on the athletic field than the track events. This is virtually what is happening every night. The baseball men are out there at three-thirty and when the track men come there is no place for them to go but behind the goal posts in the "stubble field." Then, too, the playing of a baseball game when a man is trying to run a mile or two does not encourage him any to stick to the work when the others right beside him are having such a good time.

The most lamentable thing of all is that some of the men who would make good as track and some who have made good, but who like to play baseball, will do that to the exclusion of all else and so the track team suffers the loss of a good point getter for the sake of baseball, which does not amount to a row of pins as far as the official athletics of the institution are concerned.

Some arrangement could and should be made so that the track men will at least get an even break with baseball. For instance, the baseball men could relinquish the field for half an hour each night and let it be used during that time exclusively for track events.

KUPHAL WINS.

The supreme court last Wednesday denied the petition for a rehearing which was filed by the defendant in the case of Herbert Kuphal against the Western Montana Flouring Mill company. Since no further defense can be made by the defendant, the judgment remains in favor of Herbert Kuphal.

Mr. Kuphal, who is a Freshman in college, is actively associated with students' affairs, being one of the circulators on the Kaimin and a prominent member of the Engineers' club.

TO THE STUDENTS.

It has been said by the merchants of Missoula that it does not pay to advertise in University publications. The reason they give is that they don't receive a fair proportion of the students' trade. It is up to the students and faculty to patronize those merchants who advertise in this paper and only those. It is the advertising merchants who make this paper possible. It isn't just to them if they don't receive a fair compensation for doing so. We understand that the Golden Rule company, one of our best advertisers, will issue to every man in the University a "frank card," which entitles him to a 10 per cent discount on every cash purchase made in their store.

This looks to us like a very generous offer. Every University man should get one of these cards as he is the one who will profit by it. And it will show our appreciation for the generous offer which the Golden Rule has made us. Students, patronize those merchants who are our friends.

MRS. WEISEL IMPROVES.

Mrs. George Weisel, wife of George Weisel, one of the coaches of the 1910 championship football team, is steadily improving after an operation for an acute attack of appendicitis and will soon be able to be moved to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Toole, on Gerald avenue.

Mrs. Weisel formerly attended the University and is a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

CHEMISTRY CLUB.

The Montana Chemistry club held one of its regular meetings on Thursday, March 23, in the Physical Chemistry lecture room. The speakers for the evening were members of the club. Mr. Orion Cunningham gave a lecture on "Catalysis and Catalytic Agents." Not only was the talk most instructive and well prepared but added interest came from the many unusual experiments with which he illustrated his lecture. The second talk was given by George Klebe on the "Life and Works of Sir Humphrey Davy." Wilson Minnerly followed with an interesting discussion of "Industrial Chemistry," in which he put forth in the most entertaining way the inventions so numerous in modern chemical science. After the lectures were over the members gathered around for the delicious refreshments which were served.

A. S. U. M. DANCE

To Be Held in Gym Friday Night—A Large Attendance Is Desired.

Tomorrow night, the April Fool dance is to be given in the Gym and a large crowd is anticipated. Good music has been secured and the floor is in excellent condition. The students are asked to spread the news, invite their friends and last but not least, to be present in person.

SENIOR MEMORIAL.

At a meeting of the Senior committee, consisting of Massey McCullough, chairman; Marjorie Ross and Gladys McLean, several suggestions were offered and will be brought before the class at its next regular meeting. The memorial this year will be something entirely different from former years if the present plans carry, and it is expected will prove quite a surprise on the student body.

HYGIENE LECTURE.

Dr. W. P. Mills of Missoula addressed the class in public hygiene Tuesday on the subject of "Immunity." The lecture was well attended and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The doctor will speak again today on the same subject.

"Principles of Art" was the subject of Miss Knowles' lecture delivered before the Woman's club at Butte last Thursday. This was the first of the series of six lectures to be given there on the subject of "Art Appreciation." She will give the second this evening on "Personality in Art."

Mr. Robert Cary spent several days in Butte on his way home from the meeting of the Montana Intercollegiate Association, which met in Bozeman last week.

CONNIBEAR WRITES

Former Coach Sends His Best Wishes to the Students and the Faculty.

Mr. W. H. Bennett, manager of the track team, has received a letter from Coach H. B. Conibear of the University of Washington and formerly of the University of Montana, stating that he will do everything possible to help Montana enter the Tri-State Meet at Eugene, Ore., on May 13. "Connie," as he was best known to the students here, asked to be remembered to all his friends and wishes them the best of luck in the athletic contests especially.

1911 SENTINEL.

The 1911 Sentinel is rapidly assuming definite form. All the work of the assistant editors has been handed in and "dummy" for the printers will be completed this week. Nearly all of the cuts have been received from the engravers and the staff hopes to have the last of them here by the end of the week. The "dummy" will then be forwarded to Helena and the mechanical part of the work commenced.

The advertisers have been hard at work for some time and have been very successful. This success has been due entirely to their own efforts as business conditions in Missoula for the past year have not been the best. The advertisers deserve more credit than usual for the persistency with which they have carried on this work and the success with which they have met.

The editors this year have planned many special features and all have turned out better than expected, so that the 1911 Annual will be something out of the ordinary. For the next three weeks the staff will be busy proof reading and making the final corrections and changes. If there are no serious delays the Sentinel will be out early in May.

DRAMATIC DEVELOPMENT TALK.

Monday evening Prof. G. F. Reynolds ended his series of lectures on the drama with a delightful talk on Ben Johnson and a reading from his famous satire, "Epicoene, the Silent Woman." The lecture was delivered in the assembly hall of the Missoula high school. Those who have taken advantage of the course and have attended all of the lectures have been unstinting in their praise, for Dr. Reynolds is a recognized authority along these lines and his course has been, in consequence, of great value.

Last evening he began by treating briefly the classical influence upon the English drama. Johnson, he said, is the greatest representative of the English classical school and his work is, consequently, of great importance. He outlined Johnson's life briefly and considered his characteristics and his relation to the Elizabethan drama.

Then he took up "The Silent Woman." He read selected scenes from this brilliant satire in such a pleasing manner that he held his audience from start to finish and had them convulsed with laughter most of the time. He is intimately acquainted with the play and the breaks made by the scenes necessarily left out owing to the shortness of the time were satisfactorily filled by his brief descriptions.

His series ended last night, and, although the attendance was not very large, it is certain that when he lectures again the advertising done by those who heard this course will draw a crowd more worthy of the attraction.

ALUMNI NOTES.

Mamie Burke, '10, arrived in Missoula on Friday, March 24, and will visit at her home here for ten days, the Thompson schools being closed for a spring vacation.

Ruth Smith, '08, teaching in Stevensville this year, was a visitor in town on Saturday.

On Saturday afternoon, March 25, Ethel Ambrose, '08, entertained in honor of Sue Garlington, '07, who is to be married in the early part of April. Several guests were present and at the close of a delightful afternoon dainty refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Reinhard have returned from their wedding trip, and are living in a cozy little house on Spruce street.

Earl Greenough, ex-'08, has been in Missoula for the past week. He is located in Mullan, Idaho, this winter.

Miss Nell Whitaker, '10, has been spending the week in the city with relatives.

unity in all college affairs and large crowds to every event would be the result. Yes, indeed, I am in favor of it and will help all I can."

Fred Thieme, Business Manager of Sentinel.

"You bet, I believe in it and if the details are properly worked out it ought to be a mighty successful feature."

Alene McGregor.

"It's a good thing; more unity in action and larger crowds will result. Yes, I am very much in favor of the movement."

Alice Mathewson, President Science Club.

"A good stunt and I think everybody approves it. Hope to see it in use next fall."

Miss Winnifred Feighner of the Alumni: "I believe it would be a good thing and hope it is adopted."

President McCowan of A. S. U. M.

Mr. McCowan said to the Kaimin reporter: "Well, it was tried last year, but was given up in disgust. Would the fee be collected by the registrar? If so would the University administration have anything to say as to how the money would be spent? I am heartily in favor of the motion under the right conditions but believe it ought to be discussed at length and some official action taken."

Dan Conner, Junior Prexy.

"Yes," says Daniel, "I believe it will be an excellent plan and will probably eliminate stags from the dances to a great degree. I never did approve of a lot of fellows tagging it and if this helps to put a stop to it it will be a doubly good thing."

Miss Florence DeRyke, President of Y. W. C. A. and Clarkia.

"Yes, I think the idea is a very good one and am in favor of its adoption."

Miss Gladys McLean.

"I know the adoption of such a plan would be of great benefit to the University, the faculty and the students and I am heartily in favor of it."

Manager Thompson of A. S. U. M.

"I am afraid it won't work," said Professor Thompson, manager of A. S. U. M. "Enough money could not be gotten in that manner to finance the A. S. U. M. I believe that it is a movement in the right direction, however."

Cecil Dobson, President of the Sophomore.

"I believe in the plan and think it will be highly successful if operated on a business basis."

A. O'Rourke, Editor of the Sentinel.

"I am enthusiastic about the plan. Every student should favor this movement.

FRIGHTENED BY THE GIRLS

ONE OF OUR SORORITIES SUCCEEDS IN STRIKING TERROR TO A TIMID HEART.

On Friday night considerable excitement was caused by the appearance of a large gang of girls. They walked arm in arm and seemed to think that the street was built exclusively for them.

They were heralded by a breathless, half exhausted man, who half ran and half staggered up to the bunch of fellows who were draped leisurely over the landscape in front of the first car store on the other side of the bridge. This man, appearing with his hat in his hand and his eyes sticking out, was grabbed by the loungers and taken inside of the establishment. He was questioned as to the cause of his hysteria. He was only able to mutter, but the drift of his story was that a large mob of girls were taking the city by storm. They had followed him across the bridge and as he was only a mere man and as he thought they were suffragettes he had fear of his life. He said he had heard them singing when he left his house on Fourth street and it sounded to him that they were out at the University. He sauntered along slowly, not thinking any more about the matter, when suddenly he heard an awful noise behind him. On turning he saw about a hundred young women marching arm in arm, taking the whole street for their parade. He advised all men to seek cover and then his terror became so great that six men could not hold him. He escaped out the back door and no more was seen of him.

The Observer had been in the audience and, being a man who was out for the news, he resolved to do his duty by investigating the matter and perhaps getting a story. He accordingly grasped his 38-caliber Colt's revolver firmly, and, buttoning his coat for protection, he stepped out into the street. The sight he saw made him gasp. There, just at the end of the bridge, was a "mob" of 22 girls advancing, arm in arm, as reported, but having finished their song, and not knowing another, they were as silent, or, rather, as silent as 22 girls generally are.

He stood in the shadow of a post and when they came up he saw not a gang of suffragettes coming to take the city by storm and make poor, weak, feeble-minded men bow down to their will, but instead the members of a sorority out to see the 10-cent shows.

In connection with this should be told the story of the scare the peaceful residents of University avenue had at about 10:30 the same evening. The telephone bell in the Kaimin office rang long and loud. On being answered a timid voice asked for help. The man on the "dog watch" hesitated not a moment but dashed out on the campus. The noise he heard down the avenue was nearly deafening and hither he hurled himself. The sight that met his eyes would cause J. J. Jeffries to send in a riot call. Here victoriously singing and promenading down the center of the street was what looked like the left wing of a conquering army. Peaceful householders were running from their mansions, dogs were barking, children crying and the fire department was coming at full gallop on the thoroughfare. The Kaimin man, courageous as ever, dared to stop the leaders and ask the cause of the demonstration. A lady spoke up and told him. It was the return of part of the party seen on Higgins avenue a short time before.

If it is something nice in program, announcement or cards see the Bureau of Printing. Both phones 645.

matter and was justified in refusing.

This conclusion was reached when a demurrer to the accusation was sustained by Judge Cheadle. In sustaining the demurrer the court took occasion to administer a mild reprimand to Mr. Cotter, which, however, was more in the nature of brotherly advice to the young attorney. The judge also pointed out to some of the attorneys interested in the case their unbecoming conduct in allowing their prejudices to be so prominently shown.

Mr. Cotter graduated with the class of 1907 and was always a very prominent and popular student. All the friends of "Pat," as he was generally known, rejoice in the decision reached by the court, and he has the best wishes of the student body for future success.

Numerous students have ventured up the mountain and as it is only fifteen minutes' walk from the campus it is well worth the time of all to take a look. #### JUNIOR PROM.

The Junior Prom may have a far, far away sound to most of us, but to a few it is near, enough to have already started actual preparations for the great event. Just as everything else this year is one degree better than the same thing last year, so judging from reports, the Junior Prom of 1911 will be far superior to anything of the kind heretofore. Fred Thieme has begun the work as a manager should and with aid of his committees is making all sorts of new and original plans for decorations, lighting, etc. Special attention is to be given to the music this year, and it is rumored that out-of-town musicians may be employed.

The following are the committees appointed:

Music—Baker, Kent, Shunk.

they picked up a worthless half-breed as a guide and interpreter. With this man came his wife, Sac-a-ja-wea. Her husband proving incompetent, the girl took up his burden and led the party on toward the coast. She argued her way through a hostile territory and led the white men in safety to the Pacific.
At The Dalles she saved the records of the trip by diving from an overturned canoe after them.

When the party finally reached the mouth of the Columbia, the Indian woman turned back with them and led them again to Three Forks. There she died and was buried. Her grave has never been found but that it lies near the source of the Missouri is known.

It is only appropriate that the picture of such an important figure in the history of the state should be own-

College and High School Week at Missoula's Exclusive Clothing Store

We have set aside this week as College and High School week, a time devoted to the display of "L" system clothes.
In olden days clothes didn't matter much, but things have changed. Nowadays clothes have as much to do with one's success as personality itself, and it's the neat, well-dressed men that "get there" in both social and business life. "L systems" range in price from $18.00 to $40.00—but come in, snook around and make yourself at home. If you want to talk clothing you'll have to start the conversation.

GERMAN CLUB.

The German club held an enthusiastic meeting last Thursday afternoon.
It was the largest meeting yet held,
there being about thirty present. Mr.
F. W. Kuphal was among the guests and delivered a very interesting talk to the club, saying that he was very much pleased to find such an organization in the University which aided the German students in conversation.
He said that too many universities devoted all their time to the study of the German classics and no time to conversation. The meeting was one of the most enjoyable held so far.

Special rates to students for cards at the Bureau of Printing.

The University of Oregon has its own book store.
